

...a whimsical wonder. Not even one slice of cherry pie. And the coffee is either too strong or warmed over. Just like this movie. Rated R (nudity, sex, violence, profanity).

Two' should eeping dog lie learns in the worst way that electricity and water don't mix. Grief-stricken Furlong and his vet dad (Anthony Edwards) move to the very town with that notorious pet cemetery. They don't read best sellers.

Soon, a dog, a chum's abusive stepdad (the lumbering, untalented Clancy Brown) and a school bully (Jared Rushton) are killed and buried, only to bounce back good as new except for oozing wounds. Furlong realizes that maybe Mommy doesn't have to be six feet under anymore.

Yes, it's the old "Be careful what you wish for, it might come true" ploy. Only this one is decorated with skinned bunnies and shredded kittens.

Hounded by a canine from hell who thinks his shoulder is a Milkbone, Edwards cracks, "I hate that dog." You'll feel the same about this dog. Rated R (violence, sex, profanity).
